Our Craft Factory

Our craft factory is a traditional family run business and this endows our products with a special nature. They are totally handcrafted, which implies working thoroughly and respecting the times and constant temperature that whatever recipe need to be natural and homemade.

We work with the best tools, our hands, patience and care. We peel, chop, cook and can all the fruits and vegetables manually.

Obviously, we just use our first quality and 100% organic fruit and vegetables to make our own jams and preserves, which ripen right in their trees and plants. This way, we guarantee all their properties, quality and an exceptional and genuine taste. Furthermore, they come from our fields, which have been meticulously planted in compliance with a kind of agriculture respectful with the environment and the regulations of organic farming.

Below, our craft factory, where “El Tío Hilario Bio” jams and preserves are produced.
